

AlphaFlash® ‘The Chicago Report’ Delivering the Chicago PMI in machine-readable format

AlphaFlash® ‘The Chicago Report’ delivers the Chicago PMI (Composite Chicago Business Barometer), an important U.S. economic indicator, directly to algo applications. The dissemination of the seasonally adjusted number takes place in machine-readable format via the high speed AlphaFlash® network three minutes before public release.

The Chicago PMI is typically published at 8:45 am Central Time on the last working day of each month. Via AlphaFlash®, the number is made available at 8:42 am CT.

The Chicago PMI is based on a panel drawn from the membership of the Institute for Supply Management Chicago (ISM-Chicago) and reports the extent of expanding or contracting economic activity. The survey includes data from global business activities of the responding companies.

Traders and analysts closely track the Chicago PMI for clues to the national ISM index numbers which follow it by a day and with which the Chicago PMI has been shown to be highly correlated.
